Dear Conference Participant:

We welcome you to Miami and the 60th Annual Fall Conference of the Council of the Great City Schools. Thank you for being here. We are confident that you will find this conference to be one of the best that the Council has ever convened and well worth your time and effort. The theme of this year's meeting, Reinvigorating, Reimagining, Reinventing, reflects both our beautiful host city and the continuous sense of renewal and reform that is urban public education today. We have designed this meeting not only to reimagine our work together, but also to reinvigorate our efforts on behalf of the millions of urban children we serve.

We will devote a great deal of time over the next several days to discussing ways to enhance student achievement and tackle the many challenges we face. At this conference, we will take up issues related to college and career-ready standards, males of color, staff and teacher evaluations, principals and principal supervisors, turn-around schools, school board governance, testing, the arts, immigration and English learners, the reauthorization of federal education laws, social-emotional learning, technology, communications, financing, students with disabilities, and many others.

You will hear about the most interesting and innovative reforms in urban public education today from the people who are making them happen. In fact, our urban schools are among the most innovative in the country, and our leaders continue to be on the forefront of some of the most important and productive reforms anywhere in the country.

You will also hear from a powerhouse group of keynote speakers, and the annual town hall meeting this year will feature a discussion about the pending race for the White House with representatives of the two presidential campaigns. In addition, the Council will be releasing new reports that continue to highlight the successes and challenges of urban education nationally.

Finally, we will honor one of our superintendents at our awards banquet on Thursday night, and celebrate our 60th Anniversary as an organization. We will learn from our host city and enjoy each other's fellowship, expertise, and support. There are few times during the year when urban educators from across the country gather, review our progress, assess the future, and press each other to do even better for our urban children. This is the time.

Thank you for your continued commitment to the nation's Great City Schools and the children we serve. We hope everyone has a successful and productive conference. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Felton Williams

Dear Conference Participant:

Miami-Dade County Public Schools (M-DCPS) welcomes you to the 60th Anniversary of the Council of the Great City Schools Fall Conference. We are truly honored to have been chosen to host the Fall Conference during this significant milestone year.

As an international gateway, Miami has rapidly established a reputation as a vital hub for finance, commerce, tourism, culture and arts, and trade industries. The theme of this year's Fall Conference, Reinvigorating, Reimagining, and Reinventing, perfectly captures the spirit of our evolving Magic City and that of the nation's fourth largest school district comprised of 465 schools and over 356,000 students speaking 56 different languages and representing 160 countries. We are truly a global community.

M-DCPS' ongoing tradition of innovation and achievement has garnered international, national, and state honors. These include the 2012 Broad Prize for Urban Education, the 2012 Florida Department of Education's District Data Leader of the Year Award, the 2014 Florida and National Superintendent of the Year, WalletHub's ranking the District first in the nation for its rate of return on educational investment and 2015 Best Communities for Music Education Designation by the National Association of Music Merchants (NAMM) Foundation. With fifty-nine new choice programs created for 2016-2017, bringing the total to nearly 600 choice programs in areas from music, visual, and performing arts to STEM (robotics, coding, biomedical) and sports management, we are always rethinking and reinventing education so that all of our students are empowered to lead fulfilling lives as lifelong learners and responsible citizens.

At this week's important conference, over 1,000 of our nation's education leaders will convene to focus on relevant and valuable best practices, worthwhile professional development, and networking opportunities. Topics will include: Improving Achievement and Closing Gaps in Urban Schools; Urban School Professional Development; Urban School Finance; Urban School Leadership and Governance; Bilingual Education Programming; and Special Education Programming. With an impressive line-up of nationally recognized keynote speakers, exciting events in the heart of our city, and an opportunity to showcase the incredible talent of our community's youth, we believe your time in Miami will be one to remember.

On behalf of the entire District, thank you for choosing to attend the 2016 Fall Conference. We hope that you have a successful and rewarding conference, and get to experience tastes of what our unique, diverse community has to offer.

Sincerely,

Donna Brazile

Political Commentator

Friday, October 20, 2016

7:30 am

Veteran Democratic political strategist Donna Brazile became interim chair of the Democratic National Committee this past July. She has held positions as vice chair of voter registration and participation for the Democratic National Committee and the former interim national chair of the DNC as well as the former chair of the DNC’s Voting Rights Institute. Brazile began her political career at the age of nine when she worked to elect a city council candidate who had promised to build a playground in her neighborhood; the candidate won, the swing set was installed, and a life-long passion for political progress was ignited. Four decades and innumerable state and local campaigns later, Brazile has worked on every presidential campaign from 1976 through 2000, when she became the first African American to manage a presidential campaign. Author of the best-selling memoir Cooking with Grease: Stirring the Pots in American Politics, Brazile is an adjunct professor at Georgetown University; a syndicated columnist for Universal Uclick, Ms. Magazine, and O, The Oprah Magazine; and an on-air contributor to CNN and ABC, where she regularly appears on This Week. KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Eric Holder

Former U.S. Attorney General

Friday, October 20, 2016

12:30 pm

Eric H. Holder Jr. is the 82nd Attorney General of the United States. He was born in New York City and attended public schools there, graduating from Stuyvesant High School before earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in American History from Columbia College in 1973 and a Juris Doctor degree from Columbia Law School in 1976. In 1997, President Clinton appointed Holder to serve as Deputy Attorney General of the United States, a position that he held until the end of the Clinton Administration. He was the first African-American to serve as Deputy Attorney General and United States Attorney for the District of Columbia. President Barack Obama nominated Holder to be Attorney General and the United States Senate confirmed his nomination on February 2, 2009. He was the first African-American to serve in that position. He remained in office until April 27, 2015, becoming the third-longest-serving Attorney General in the nation's history. While Attorney General, Holder oversaw the government's efforts to address many critically important issues arising at the intersection of law and public policy, including national security investigations and prosecutions; landmark antitrust, environmental, fraud and tax cases; the defense of voting rights and marriage equality; and reform of the federal criminal justice system. In 2014, TIME magazine named Holder to its list of "100 Most Influential People," stating that he "worked tirelessly to ensure equal justice." After his departure from the Department of Justice, Holder returned to Covington & Burling and is resident in their Washington office. He focuses on complex litigation and investigatory matters that are international in scope and raise significant enforcement issues and substantial reputational concerns.

Dan Rather

Broadcast Journalist

Moderator of the Town Hall Meeting

Friday, October 20, 2016

2:30 pm

For more than 50 years, former CBS News anchor and 60 Minutes correspondent Dan Rather has been the embodiment of the intrepid broadcast journalist. From the Kennedy assassination—where he was the first to break the news that the president had been killed—to the Indian Ocean tsunami, he has covered every major story of our time, with distinction and a fierce dedication to hard news. For his unparalleled devotion to his craft, he was named the 2012 recipient of the Edward R. Murrow Award for Lifetime Achievement. Rather's reporting skills are legendary, and his single-minded pursuit of the story has taken him to datelines as far ranging as Vietnam, Afghanistan, Iraq, China, Russia, and Cuba. On the domestic front, Rather has covered every presidential campaign since 1952. He was White House correspondent for CBS News during the administrations of Presidents Johnson and Nixon, and was a leading force in broadcast news investigation of the Watergate scandal. During the 1960s, as chief of CBS' Southwest Bureau, Rather reported from the flashpoints of the Civil Rights struggle in the South. Despite a lifetime of accolades, Rather never lost his drive for front-line journalism. After leaving CBS News, he pioneered a cable news magazine program, and from the melting arctic to the battlefields of the Middle East, from inner city classrooms to big money politics in Washington, Rather and his team produced over 300 hours of award-winning news and documentary programming. He has covered important social issues such as substance use disorders, mental health, and homelessness and poverty. Constantly looking to innovate new avenues for quality journalism, Rather has now launched a production company called "New & Guts." He is developing a series of projects ranging from an acclaimed interview program on AXS TV to documentaries and digital video content. His continued restlessness in pursuit of excellence would be evident to anyone who read his entertaining memoir Rather Outspoken: My Life in the News, published in 2012.
