The screenshot shows the Council of the Great City Schools website. The header includes the organization's name, tagline "THE NATION'S VOICE FOR URBAN EDUCATION", and navigation icons for Twitter, Contact Us, Jobs Board, and Calendar. A menu bar lists: ABOUT THE COUNCIL, MEMBER SERVICES, NEWSROOM, PUBLICATIONS, RESEARCH, ACADEMICS, LEGISLATIVE, and CONFERENCES. The main content area features a breadcrumb trail: Home > About the Council > Awards and Scholarships > Green-Garner Award. A sidebar on the left lists various awards and scholarships, with "Green-Garner Award" selected. The main content area has a heading "Green-Garner Award" and a paragraph: "Each year at its annual Fall Conference, the Council presents a board member or superintendent with the Green-Garner Award, the nation's highest urban education honor recognizing outstanding contributions in urban education and named in memory of urban school leaders Richard R. Green and Edward Garner." Below this is a small portrait of a man. Another paragraph follows: "Sponsored by the Council, ARAMARK Education and Scholastic, Inc., the Green-Garner Award is the namesake of the first African American chancellor of the New York City school system and a businessman and former school board president of the Denver Public Schools, respectively." Below this is another small portrait of a man. A third paragraph states: "The 2017 winner of the Green Garner award was Felton Williams, a school board member from California's Long Beach Unified School District. Williams has been on the Long Beach Board of Education for more than 13 years, serving multiple terms as president and vice president of the 75,000-student school system's policymaking body. He has led efforts to improve student academic performance, including the planning of the district's Academic and Career Success Initiative. He developed a program to increase the number of students of color pursuing Advanced Placement courses and exams, and recommended adoption of an ethnic studies program in partnership with California State University, Long Beach. The former college dean is also the immediate past chair of the Council of the Great City Schools' Board of Directors. Click here to read the press release." Below this is a larger portrait of Felton Williams. At the bottom of the screenshot, a caption reads: "Felton Williams accepts the Green-Garner award at the Council's 61st Annual Fall Conference in Cleveland in 2017."

THE TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL GREEN-GARNER AWARD PROGRAM

The Council of the Great City Schools is committed to recognizing and supporting outstanding leadership in urban education in honor of Richard R. Green and Edward Garner.

The Council of the Great City Schools is pleased to join with Aramark K-12 Education and Scholastic in sponsoring the annual Green-Garner Award in Urban Education. This year's award is dedicated to honoring one of our superintendents. Next year's award will spotlight one of our school board members. The honor has been named for our outstanding colleagues and friends—Richard Green, the former Chancellor of the New York City Public Schools and former Superintendent of the Minneapolis Public Schools, and Edward Garner, the former School Board President of Denver Public Schools. This award will be presented at the Annual Conference of the Council of the Great City Schools in Baltimore, MD.

Michael Casserly

Urban education has been blessed with many dedicated and talented individuals. Superintendents who will be nominated will have helped spearhead the comeback and progress of the nation's urban schools. These remarkable individuals have worked tirelessly on behalf of our very special children.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

In tribute to the memories of Richard R. Green and Edward Garner, the Council of the Great City Schools, Aramark K-12 Education, and Scholastic, Inc. will annually present an award in their names to a past or present council member superintendent or board of education member. The award rotates annually between superintendents and board members, and winners will be awarded for representing one or more of the ideals and commitments expressed by Richard Green and Edward Garner (see Selection Criteria, page 4).

The 2018 Green-Garner Award winner will be honored at the Annual Conference of the Council of the Great City Schools in Baltimore, MD and will receive a $10,000 college scholarship to present to a senior in a high school from the winner's school system.

All nominees will:

- ★ Be recognized on stage during the banquet.
- ★ Be guests of honor at a special reception.

The winner will:

- ★ Receive a special Green-Garner Award expressing the history of Dr. Green, Mr. Garner, and the ideals they cherished.
- ★ Be the guest of honor at a reception and banquet where the award will be presented.
- ★ Receive nationwide recognition in the news and various trade media, as well as a special profile in the Council of the Great City Schools newsletter, Urban Educator.

Houston Schools Superintendent Terry Grier congratulates Alisa Hamilton who received a $10,000 Richard Green college scholarship. Grier was the winner of the 2014 Green-Garner Award. Hamilton attends East Texas Baptist University.

Cleveland CEO Eric Gordon surprises Brinden Harvey at his home with a $10,000 Richard Green scholarship check. Gordon was the winner of the 2016 Green-Garner Award, Harvey attends Ohio's Baldwin Wallace University.
