CALENDAR OF QUESTIONS 2013-14

A Common Core State Standards Implementation Tool for School Board Members, Superintendents, District Staff, Principals, Teachers, Counselors, Parents, and Students
Purpose

The Council of the Great City Schools (CGCS) developed this Calendar of Questions to serve as a tool for districts as they implement the Common Core State Standards. The calendar provides overarching questions that could be posed throughout the year, as well as questions for district staff and principals to consider before the school year starts. There are also questions arranged by month that focus on particular aspects of implementation for people at various levels of the district. They model how to proactively plan and monitor efforts to raise student achievement and to assess their impact throughout the organization. This is not an exhaustive list and the questions should not function as a checklist of completed tasks. The goal is to promote discussion and synchronize the work in a logical way across the organization.

Overarching questions throughout the year

• How does our implementation of common core reflect high expectations for all students and fit with all of the other major school district priorities? How do we integrate the common core with other district reform initiatives, including turnaround schools? How have we coordinated and communicated those priorities?
• What improvements to the core instructional program are needed to ensure that English Language Learners (ELLs), students with disabilities, and struggling students have access to the common core?
• What information does our school board need about the common core and our implementation progress?
• How might we better use our resources and staffing to ensure strong implementation of the common core across the entire district?
• How will we gauge implementation? What is our evidence? What changes do we need to make in our work?
• How often do central office staff, principal supervisors, and principals visit classrooms? How do we use results to enhance and support student achievement and student work?
• What implementation successes are we seeing in classrooms? How are we using multiple measures of student progress?

Questions for district staff before the school year starts

• How well do we understand the rationale of the common core and how instruction and assessment must change for all students to be successful?
• What information do we need to gather to keep the superintendent and school board aware of implementation progress?
• In selecting materials for classroom use, how are we utilizing the free Toolkit for Evaluating Alignment of Instructional and Assessment Materials?
• In mathematics, how have we revised pacing guides and scope and sequence documents to place more time and greater focus on common core standards at each grade level?
• In English language arts and literacy, how have we revised pacing guides and scope and sequence documents to reflect the appropriate balance of informational and literary texts?
• In selecting materials for classroom use, how are we utilizing the free Toolkit for Evaluating Alignment of Instructional and Assessment Materials?
• In mathematics, how have we revised pacing guides and scope and sequence documents to place more time and greater focus on common core standards at each grade level?
• How do we gauge the implementation of common core instructional shifts in content areas outside of English language arts and math?
• In English language arts and literacy, how have we revised pacing guides and scope and sequence documents to reflect the appropriate balance of informational and literary texts?
• How have all instructional departments modified documents to ensure that they guide teachers on implementing common core instructional shifts?
• How have we studied sample common core-aligned tests and prototype items? What implications do they have for curriculum and professional development support for general education programming? What implications do they have for the instruction and assessment of special populations?

Questions for principals before the school year starts

• What is my strategy for implementing the common core? How far along are we in the implementation process?
• How do I ensure that ELLs, students with disabilities, and struggling students have access to rigorous content and instruction?
• As I consider my instructional and support staff, who already has a deep understanding of common core and who needs additional support? How do I know? How will I provide additional learning opportunities for those who need them? How will I build a strong team with a shared understanding of the standards and the instructional shifts necessary to implement them?
• How will I work with my faculty to promote classroom environments conducive to learning and where students are eager to engage in challenging work?

An electronic copy of this Calendar of Questions and additional resources are available at www.commoncoreworks.org.
How well do we understand the rationale for the common core and the implications it has for preparing our students for college and careers? What additional information do we need?

What is the district's strategy for implementing the common core? Does this strategy address the needs of diverse learners?

Do our statements and policies clearly indicate that the common core is a priority for our district? How?

How have we made the common core a priority across departments and schools to meet the needs of all students?

How well do we understand these talking points?

What is the district's strategy for implementing the common core districtwide?

What do we explain to parents about the common core?

How do we explain the common core to our community?

If we are adopting new materials this year, do staff members and teachers responsible for selecting those materials have in-depth training on common core requirements and the Publishers' Criteria?

What guidance will we give teachers on how to work with students who may not meet grade-level expectations?

How well have we aligned financial and human resources, professional development, and other supports to ensure that teachers, principals, and administrators are able to apply the instructional shifts?

How many of our staff members and teachers lack high quality training on the common core? How do we respond? What is our plan for evaluating the effects of our professional development?

What is our onboarding process for new hires and does it adequately incorporate the common core? How can we engage our university partners in teacher preparation for the common core?

How well can I explain the rationale and the main instructional shifts required by the common core to parents and fellow teachers? How will I make those shifts visible in my classroom?

How do I further develop my understanding of the common core? Where do I go to find accurate answers to my questions about the standards and their implications for my instructional practice?

How well can I explain the rationale and the main instructional shifts required by the common core to parents and fellow teachers? How will I make those shifts visible in my classroom?

How do I know where to get accurate information about the common core and my school's implementation of the new standards?

Have I watched the three-minute videos about the common core?
What proportion of central office and school-based instructional staff knows what the common core instructional shifts are in the areas of reading, writing, and mathematics and how to apply them? How do we know? What are our plans for those who still do not know the shifts and their application?

How have we articulated for instructional staff how student work should reflect the common core shifts in reading and math?

What interventions do we have in place for teachers to use with struggling students?

What additional professional development and resources do we require?

How are we using free resources available through CCSS: Student Achievement Partners, and Illustrative Mathematics?

What mechanisms have we established to formally evaluate common core implementation?

Are we ready for full implementation of the standards and online testing in 2015?

What is our schedule for visiting schools? What will we look for?

What is the extent of implementation at the school and classroom levels? How do we evaluate the quality and breadth of implementation? With what tools?

How are we addressing misconceptions about the common core and our implementation?

How well are the common core instructional shifts understood in schools and reflected in student work? What evidence do we have? How will we respond?

What guidance have we given principal supervisors, principals, coaches, and teachers on what to look for to ensure that classrooms reflect the common core?

What mechanisms have we created for principals and teachers to provide feedback on common core implementation problems?

How often will we provide district leadership with status updates on our technology plan for implementing the common core?

What evidence do I have that my teachers hold high expectations for all students? How do I know that students are working with complex texts in every classroom at least once a week?

How do I know that teachers are asking questions that require students to support their answers with evidence from what they are reading and from what they are learning in math?

Are teachers collaboratively reviewing and discussing student work products? Does this collaboration include teachers of ELLs, students with disabilities, and gifted and talented students? How do I know?

Do I see student work that shows students using academic vocabulary in context (not just defining lists of words)? How do I support and encourage students in using subject-specific language effectively?

What is my role in reviewing and discussing student work?

What mechanisms have we created for teachers, parents, and students to provide feedback on common core implementation problems?

Do we need to reassess our budget allocations to ensure that they are meeting our common core implementation priorities?

What evidence is emerging that our programs are proving effective in implementing the common core?

Are there gaps in how well aligned our programs and materials are with the common core? How do we supplement our instructional materials to fill those gaps? Are we using the Publishers’ Criteria to help us with these decisions?

What progress are we making with our districtwide and site-based professional development efforts to ensure that school staff are implementing the common core effectively? What evidence are we using to gauge effectiveness?

How can we engage our universities and other partners in common core implementation efforts?

How are we ensuring that teachers and principals are emphasizing the language standards in all content areas and at each grade level as students are working on reading and writing?

What tools are we using to monitor progress? Do they include multiple measures of achievement?

How does our implementation plan in mathematics and English language arts ensure that every grade level succeeds in implementing the common core by 2015? If it does not, what do we need to change?

For those students who will be encountering new, more rigorous standards in the middle and later years of their K-12 education, how are we ensuring that they succeed with this transition?

How are my colleagues and I using student work products to inform our instructional practice and implementation of the common core?

How can I strengthen my skill at developing good text-dependent questions and text-based writing prompts?

Am I providing enough opportunities for students to respond to questions that require them to cite evidence in support of their thinking?

In mathematics, how are students demonstrating understanding and problem-solving skills?

How am I scaffolding instruction to ensure access to the common core for ELLs, students with disabilities, and struggling students?
How is the administration's implementation of the common core progressing? What performance indicators are we using? What are the administration's next steps in implementing the common core?

How effectively is our cross-functional team working together to meet their goals? How do we ensure that the budget for next year prioritizes common core implementation? What is the status of our common core implementation in general education, special education, gifted education, and for English language learners? What evidence do we have? What lessons are we learning from this year? What are we hearing from teachers and principals in the field and what are we doing about it? How will this information impact budget planning, development and training on the use of technology, support for teachers, principals and students, and preliminary summer school plans?

What evidence do I see of the following practices? Students reading and understanding grade-level texts with teacher support. Students using academic language in both oral and written responses. Students connecting concepts across science, math, the arts, and social studies classes. Students justifying their answers by citing evidence from the text and elaborating on their reasoning. As the semester comes to an end, am I confident that my staff can implement the common core according to plan? Do I need to make staffing changes? How are central and area offices responding to my concerns as well as those of my faculty?

How am I informally assessing students' use of academic vocabulary in discussions and in their writing? What do I need to do if they are struggling in this area? How am I advancing close reading in the classroom with all students in the content areas I teach? What student performance measures am I using? As a school, how are we providing opportunities for students to explore science, math, the arts, and social studies concepts? What is the quality of student work indicating to me about their learning and my teaching? What instructional adjustments do I need to make?

Are there additional intervention strategies that I need to put into place for struggling students? How do I continue to challenge students who are excelling? How are the principal and the district responding to the concerns I have voiced?
How are parents and the community responding to the changes the district is making in our classrooms? How should the district address their concerns?

As we consider the budget for next school year, what data do we need to inform our planning?

What data do we need to begin planning for summer schools?

What changes have we made to our common core implementation plan based on the data we have? How will these changes impact budget forecasting and technology needs for the upcoming semester, summer school, and next school year?

What additional intervention strategies do we need to consider for the remainder of the school year?

How do we prepare for year-end testing, how are we maintaining an emphasis on common core instructional shifts? How have we communicated this information to principals, teachers, the community, and parents?

What are our plans for moving common core implementation forward over the summer and fall and for preparing for more rigorous assessments in 2014-15?

What is the status of our common core outreach efforts to city hall, religious organizations, the business community, parents, and advocacy groups?

Have we allocated the funds necessary to complete our summer and fall plans?

Based on preliminary projections of budget and staffing allocations for next year, what adjustments do I need to make?

What logistical plans do I need to make for any additional interim testing and for final year-end assessments?

How do I support teachers in preparing students for interim and year-end testing?

What specialized interventions or supports do I need to put into place based on my recent progress data and teacher input?

Do I need to review the language standards with my staff based on how they are being addressed across content areas?

Do I need to review the math standards and how they are applied across content areas?

How have we articulated for the community the ways common core standards support current state testing and college and career readiness assessments?

How have we built progress updates on the common core into our regular communications tools, such as newsletters and social media?

To what extent are my students progressing in their ability to read and understand increasingly complex text? Are they becoming more adept with text-dependent questions? What do I need to do if they are not?

How do I ensure that students are becoming less reliant on my support and are developing greater confidence and skills?

As I advance student reading and writing in my subject area, am I emphasizing academic vocabulary, grammar, usage, punctuation, and mechanics? Am I emphasizing math fluency and vocabulary appropriate for my grade level?

How am I building review and reflection into my daily work to help students remember and connect what they have learned?

How can I help students establish and attain specific academic goals and learning strategies for the second semester?

What specific behavior intervention plans and supports have I put into place for students who need them?

What have I learned from my child’s teacher and counselor about his or her academic needs and progress?

What can I do to help my child achieve in school?

What are my learning goals for the second semester? What are my plans for meeting them?

How will I know I am improving?

What are my learning goals for the second semester? What are my plans for meeting them?

What can I do to help my child achieve in school?

Is my child able to complete homework independently?

School Board Members

- How is the administration moving forward with common core implementation?
- Is the district ready for more rigorous assessments in 2014-15?
- How are we ensuring that our summer school program will emphasize the instructional shifts required by the common core?
- Is our budget planning proceeding at the right pace?

Superintendent and Cabinet Staff

- How is our work on the common core supporting student achievement on current state assessments?
- Are we continuing our school visits? What are we learning from them?
- Are the common core instructional shifts evident in classroom practice and student work, particularly with ELLs, students with disabilities, and struggling students? How are we communicating these successes? How will we address areas of need?
- How do our summer school plans need to be revised based on what we see from our benchmarks, site visits, and on-going evaluations?

Senior Instructional and Operational Staff

- What successes in implementing the common core can we share with the community and other school districts?
- Have our outreach efforts resulted in greater support for the district’s common core implementation? How do we know?
- Is my staff collaborating effectively to integrate the instructional shifts required by the common core?
- How am I contributing to the collaborative planning process? What impact has our team made on classroom practice and student work? How do we know?
- How are we addressing the needs of our ELLs, students with disabilities, gifted students, and struggling students?
- What improvements are my students making as a result of the academic and behavioral interventions or supports I am using?
- What additional data do I need to assess student progress?

Communications Staff

- How are we ensuring that our summer school program will emphasize the instructional shifts required by the common core?
- Is our budget planning proceeding at the right pace?
- Are we continuing our school visits? What are we learning from them?
- Are the common core instructional shifts evident in classroom practice and student work, particularly with ELLs, students with disabilities, and struggling students? How are we communicating these successes? How will we address areas of need?
- How do our summer school plans need to be revised based on what we see from our benchmarks, site visits, and on-going evaluations?

Principals

- Is my staff collaborating effectively to integrate the instructional shifts required by the common core?
- How can I ensure that collaborative planning time is yielding effective results? How am I measuring effectiveness? How often do I check progress?
- How are students responding to the academic and behavioral interventions we have put into place?
- How have students receiving interventions and supports improved?
- What additional data do I need to assess student progress?

Teachers

- How am I contributing to the collaborative planning process? What impact has our team made on classroom practice and student work? How do we know?
- How are we addressing the needs of our ELLs, students with disabilities, gifted students, and struggling students?

Calendar of Questions 2013-14

School Board Members
- How will summer school programming enhance student success with the common core?
- What have we learned about our implementation of the common core this year?
- How will we refine our implementation and professional development plans for this summer and next year?
- How will summer school programming enhance student success with the common core?
- How am I publicly recognizing the work being done by our schools? How are we communicating to the public about our common core implementation?
- How are we preparing the community to understand the differences between current state testing and tests aligned to the common core in 2015?

Superintendent and Cabinet Staff
- What are our plans for communicating with parents and the public about our year-end assessment results?
- What plans are in place for summer school?
- What is the timeline for completing curriculum revisions and providing professional development for principal supervisors, principals, teachers, coaches, and central office staff for this summer and next year?
- How are we informing teachers and principals about high-quality resources and professional development opportunities in preparation for next year?
- What information do we need to provide to the superintendent and school board to ensure that they understand our implementation progress and additional needs?

Senior Instructional and Operational Staff
- What are our plans for communicating with parents and the public about our year-end assessment results?
- What updates do we need from the central office to inform our communications about summer school registration and the common core?
- What is my plan for contacting parents of children who will need to enroll in summer school?
- What changes do I need to make to teacher assignments for the upcoming school year?
