III. Recommended Interim Policy Changes

IV. Questions?

Title IX: Background
What is Title IX?

- Title IX prohibits discrimination based on sex in education programs or activities that accept federal financial assistance.

§ 1681. Sex
(a) Prohibition against discrimination; exceptions

No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance, except that:

ED’s Power to Issue Administrative Regulations Under Title IX

“Of course, the Department of Education could enforce the requirement administratively: Agencies generally have authority to promulgate and enforce requirements that effectuate the statute’s nondiscrimination mandate, 20 U.S.C. § 1682 . . . .”

Previous ED Guidance (still in effect)

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX) and the Department of Education’s (Department) implementing regulations prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex in federally assisted education programs and activities. The Supreme Court, Congress, and Federal executive departments and agencies, including the Department, have recognized that sexual harassment of students can constitute discrimination prohibited by Title IX. This guidance focuses on a school’s fundamental compliance responsibilities under Title IX and the Title IX regulations to address sexual harassment of students as a condition of continued receipt of Federal funding. It describes the regulatory basis for a school’s compliance responsibilities under Title IX, outlines the circumstances under which sexual harassment may constitute discrimination prohibited by the statute and regulations, and provides information about actions that schools should take to prevent sexual harassment or to address it effectively if it does occur.

Dear Colleague:

Education has long been recognized as the great equalizer in America. The U.S. Department of Education and its Office for Civil Rights (OCR) believe that providing all students with an educational environment free from discrimination is extremely important. The sexual harassment of students, including sexual violence, interferes with students’ right to receive an education free from discrimination and, in the case of sexual violence, is a crime.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX), 20 U.S.C. § 1681 et seq., and its implementing regulations, 34 C.F.R. Part 106, prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs or activities operated by recipients of Federal financial assistance. Sexual harassment of students, which includes acts of sexual violence, is a form of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX. In order to assist recipients, which include school districts, colleges, and universities (hereinafter “schools” or “recipients”) in meeting these obligations, this letter explains that the requirements of Title IX pertaining to sexual harassment also cover sexual violence, and lays out the specific Title IX requirements applicable to sexual violence.

Questions and Answers on Title IX and Sexual Violence

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (“Title IX”) is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in federally funded education programs and activities. All public and private elementary and secondary schools, school districts, colleges, and universities receiving any federal financial assistance (hereinafter "schools", "recipients", or "recipient institutions") must comply with Title IX.1

Dear Colleague:

Schools across the country strive to create and sustain inclusive, supportive, safe, and nondiscriminatory communities for all students. In recent years, we have received an increasing number of questions from parents, teachers, principals, and school superintendents about civil rights protections for transgender students. Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX) and its implementing regulations prohibit sex discrimination in educational programs and activities operated by recipients of federal financial assistance.1 This prohibition encompasses discrimination based on a student’s gender identity, including discrimination based on a student’s transgender status. This letter summarizes a school’s Title IX obligations regarding transgender students and explains how the U.S. Department of Education (ED) and the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) evaluate a school’s compliance with these obligations.

Department of Education Welcomes Public Comment on Draft Rule

What Happens Next?

- 60-day comment period
- Review of comments by ED
- Finalization of regulation
- Possible Litigation

Comments originally due January 28, 2019, BUT . . .
The Proposed Regulation: New Rules for Schools

- ED’s Proposed Standard
- Definitions: “Sexual Harassment,” “Deliberate Indifference,” and “Actual Knowledge”
- Investigation and Adjudication
- Administrative Requirements
ED’s Proposed Standard

- Proposed § 106.44(a): A school with “actual knowledge of sexual harassment in an education program or activity . . . must respond in a manner that is not deliberately indifferent.”
- A school “is deliberately indifferent only if its response to sexual harassment is clearly unreasonable in light of the known circumstances.”

Compare: 2011 Guidance

What are a school’s responsibilities to address sexual harassment and sexual violence?

- A school has a responsibility to respond promptly and effectively. If a school knows or reasonably should know about sexual harassment or sexual violence that creates a hostile environment, the school must take immediate action to eliminate the sexual harassment or sexual violence, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects.
Definition: Sexual Harassment

“Sexual Harassment” means a school:

- “conditioning the provision of an aid, benefit, or service of the recipient on an individual’s participation in unwelcome sexual conduct;”
- “unwelcome conduct on the basis of sex that is so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the recipient’s education program or activity;” or
- “sexual assault as defined in 34 CFR 668.46(a), implementing the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (Clery Act).”

Definition: “Actual Knowledge”

- “Actual knowledge” is defined as “notice of sexual harassment or allegations of sexual harassment to a recipient’s Title IX Coordinator or any official of the recipient who has authority to institute corrective measures on behalf of the recipient.”
- Replaces Obama-era “Responsible Employee” concept
Actual Knowledge: Elementary & Secondary Schools

- “[A] teacher in the elementary and secondary context” is an official with the requisite authority “with regard to student-on-student harassment.”
- The Department reasoned that “school administrators and teachers are more likely to act in loco parentis, and exercise a considerable degree of control and supervision over their students” in elementary and secondary school settings.

Actual Knowledge: Who is a Person with “Authority”?

- Student teacher?
- Cafeteria worker?
- Volunteer classroom parent?
- Coach?
- Counselor?
Actual Knowledge

- Remember: Title IX Coordinator is always a person with authority.
- But: “the mere ability or obligation to report sexual harassment does not necessarily qualify an employee, even if that employee is an official, as one who has authority to institute corrective measures on behalf of the recipient.”

Investigation & Adjudication
Investigation

- The regulation would make clear that the "decision-maker(s) cannot be the same person as the "Title IX Coordinator or the investigator(s)."
- Prohibition on "Single Investigator" Model.

Investigation: Presumption of Innocence

- Policy must include presumption of innocence
- Investigation notice must contain presumption of innocence
- Interim decisions must account for presumption of innocence
Investigation: Mandatory Dismissals

- Must close a formal complaint that does not state a prima facie instance of sexual harassment or is outside Title IX jurisdiction
- May continue under student conduct code (presumably)

Investigation: Informal Resolution

- Permitted for any type of case, including sexual assault
- Still requires consent from both parties
- Can only occur after written notice of allegations to respondent
Investigation: Parent Participation

Grants elementary and secondary schools “the discretion to look to state law and local educational practice in determining whether the rights of the party shall be exercised by the parent(s) or guardian(s) instead of or in addition to” the accused student.”

Investigation: Interim Measures

- A school may “remov[e] a respondent from the recipient’s education program or activity on an emergency basis” so long as the school “undertakes an individualized safety and risk analysis, determines that an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees justifies removal, and provides the respondent with notice.”
- Must comply with IDEA, Section 504 and Title II of the ADA
Adjudication

- Live Hearings: Encouraged, but optional for elementary and secondary schools.
- “Because most parties and many witnesses are minors in the elementary and secondary school context, sensitivities associated with age and developmental ability may outweigh the benefits of cross-examination at a live hearing.”

Investigation: Access to Evidence

- Parties have right to review investigation file upon request
- Right attaches to all evidence related to allegations, even if school does not intend to rely on it
- Must be made available electronically before investigation report is final
Adjudication: Alternative to Live Hearing

“If no hearing is held, the decision-maker must afford each party the opportunity to submit written questions, provide each party with the answers, and allow for additional, limited follow-up questions from each party.”

Adjudication: Standard of Evidence

- Two options: Preponderance of Evidence and Clear and Convincing Evidence
- BUT cannot have different standards for students and faculty
- AND a school may only utilize the preponderance of evidence standard if the school “uses that standard for conduct code violations that do not involve sexual harassment but carry the same maximum disciplinary sanction”
Administrative Requirements

Records Retention

- Three year records retention requirement for case files
- Three year records retention requirement for training materials of involved employees
- Parties have right of access
10 Notice Requirements

1. Title IX Contacts and Grievance Procedures
2. Non-Discrimination Statement
3. Formal Complaint
4. New Allegations
5. Emergency Removal of Respondent

6. Informal Resolution
7. Extension of Investigation
8. Hearings, Investigative Interviews, or Other Meetings
9. Written Determination of Responsibility
10. Appeals
Training Requirements

- Institutions must provide training on:
  - The definition of sexual harassment
  - How to conduct an investigation (including hearings, if applicable)
  - The school's grievance process

“[A]ny materials used to train coordinators, investigators, or decision-makers not rely on sex stereotypes and instead promote impartial investigations and adjudications of sexual harassment.”
Training Requirements

- ED estimates that the training “will take 16 hours each for the Title IX Coordinator, the investigator, and a decision-maker . . . for approximately $14,458,650” in the first year (all schools receiving Title IX funds).
- ED “assume[s] that recipients will resume training of staff one their prior schedule after Year 1.”

Training Requirements

- “The Department is interested in seeking comments from the public as to whether this requirement is adequate to ensure that recipients will provide necessary training to all appropriate individuals, including those at the elementary and secondary school level.”
Specific Questions Addressed to K-12 Institutions

1. Whether there are parts of the proposed rule that will be unworkable at the elementary and secondary school level?

2. Whether there are additional parts of the proposed rule where the Department should direct recipients to take into account the age and developmental level of the parties involved and involve parents or guardians?

Specific Questions Addressed to K-12 Institutions

3. Whether there are other unique aspects of addressing sexual harassment at the K-12 level that the Department should consider, such as systemic differences between institutions of higher education and elementary and secondary schools?
Specific Questions Addressed to K-12 Institutions

4. Whether the regulations should differentiate the applicability of certain provisions on the basis of whether the complainant and respondent are 18 or over, in recognition of the fact that 18-year-olds are generally considered to be adults for many legal purposes?
Possible Interim Policy Changes

- Pre-interview written notice with sufficient details and with sufficient time
- Remove language about burden of interim measures falling on respondent
- Address inconsistent standard of proof as between sexual misconduct cases and other cases if exists
- Provide for pre-determination review of report and written comment
- Remove 60 day timeframe

Other Changes?

- Regulations are not final and could change
- Earliest likely implementation summer/Fall 2019
- Litigation could invalidate portions of final regulations
- Use caution in embarking on full-scale re-writes at this time, but be prepared to update policies for next school year
